Reminiscencies

The elusive coyote has gone. I am on the highest piece of land overlooking Carbon. Ah, there it is! But before I am able to raise my rifle Mr. Coyote has disappeared over the next hill. Sitting down, I am soon lost in reverie of the by-gone days. Yes, there it is! The old log cabin built by Hedstrom, who started the first mine just under the bank from the old log shack.

Poor old Hedstrom has crossed the Great Divide.

There is the first frame building that Davy built, in which he started a store and post office to accommodate the ranchers scattered around the fenceless country, instead of going to Calgary, their market town or Cow Town. On Saturdays you would meet in this little store quite a few swapping stories, giving information to each other of where their different brand had strayed. You would see Lindsay Elliot, who has passed away, Charlie Wyndham, the Popes, Ives the last to go, who held sway over 30,000 acres of the finest land in Alberta, the Douglas's, who sought fresh pastures when the settlers hemmed them in, Gatine, now reveling in sunshine of the sunny south, Grandjohn and others of the French fraternity. Jim Long, long since gone on the long journey, John Gray, who lived on the outskirts of the village, our versatile Neil Cunningham, Tom Charlebois, Jack Wier, Greenier, of the coal mine fame, whose old familiar voice can be heard no longer cry, Vee-ta-a-or. Also poor Victor has passed away. Last, but not least, Fred Presant and Billie Cutler, the latter the first to unearth the Dinosaurs on the banks of the Red Deer and to whose indefatigable energy placed in the British museum a beautiful specimen of the above antediluvian species. Billy has gone, he died in the African wilderness on a commission for the British government to report on the geological structure of the country. All have fond memories of him, whilst in our midst every inch a gentleman.

We must not leave out Bill Jennings, whose individualism is known to all, Morrison and Harry Irwin, Joe Hazlett and Tom Hunt. The Porters, two strapping fellows who succumbed to the flu epidemic. Poor old Graves, the Gambles, Mr. and Mrs. Nash, Van Loon and the ubiquitous Toby that could be met seemingly wherever you travelled on prairies between Calgary and Trochu.

Gamble Items

(Received too late for last issue)
Mrs. Art Hudson left Monday for her home at Alderside for a few days visit.

S. N. Wright has purchased a flock of sheep from E. Maxwell, and one of our land marks disappeared when the Jim Long barn was pulled down and re-erected at Mr. Wright's place to accommodate the sheep.

A number of neighbors gathered at the Van Loon home where they had an afternoon's sport of Tobogganing with its thrills and spills. Mrs. Van Loon was equally skillful in using her needle for rents and her iodine for bruises. A bountiful lunch was served, followed by peanuts and candy.

L. B. Hart accompanied Rev. J. McKelvey to the Presbytery in Calgary.

Red Trail Items

Alfred Lang of Beiseker, held a successful auction sale last Thursday and expects to leave shortly to make his home in Montana.

Emil and Theo. Becktholdt are back from their Saskatchewan visit and report a very enjoyable time.

Erna Becker was operated on for appendicitis last Friday morning, in the Calgary hospital and is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bertsch Jr. returned last week and are at present staying with Mr. Bertsch's parents. Tough luck befell him when a gang of charivari boys came to visit him, for, when he failed to put in an appearance and come across with a treat, which is not more than right for every young man to do, the boys took action and stuffed the chimney. This soon brought results.

J. D. Fleck was a business visitor to Calgary last week.

F. J. Rusjer will lecture over W.W. Grant station on Saturday and Sunday evening.

Swalwell

Mr. Neil Orr, who has been a patient in the Holy Cross hospital for some time, passed away on Monday night last.

The National Railway Co. are putting down a well at the station.

Three rinks are visiting Trochu for the bonspiel, which starts on the 8th.

Swalwell is to be congratulated on their first bonspiel, which was concluded on Saturday last. All the visiting rinks passed more than favorable comments on the rink, the ice and the arrangements.

The winners in the several events are as follows: Grand Challenge and Citizen's, W. Waldron, W. Hamilton, H. Webb and A. E. Calder, Skip. Consolation, M. Woods, F. Jennings, J. Wulff and A. Willis, skip.

The Visitors cup was carried off by McGregor's rink of Carbon, after a tie between his rink and Kalbleisch of Three hills was decided by a flip of the coin. To wind up the spell, the curlers sat down to a splendid supper put on by the ladies, and followed by a dance.

Miss A. L. Davis of Rosalind, Alta., has been transferred to the Carbon branch of the Bank of Montreal, and arrived Wednesday.

An Inspiration To Canadian Youth

All America is ringing with praise of George Young, the 17 year old Toronto boy who won the great swimming marathon between Catalina Island and the mainland of California, successfully negotiating this stretch of icy water in a contest wherein one hundred others failed, including some of the world's most renowned swimmers. It was a wonderful achievement, and, following the performance of John Miles, of Sydney, Nova Scotia, who set a new world's record last year in winning the Boston Amateur Athletic marathon in his first race over the 26 mile course, and the enthusiasm which Canadian hockey players are arousing in the big American cities, is having the effect of further directing attention to Canada as a land which produces the finest types of sturdy young manhood.

Through his great feat, George Young not only wins a substantial financial reward, but he leaps into athletic fame. He will be honored, cheered and fêted, and his name will long be remembered in the annals of great feats of courage, strength and endurance.

But it is not because of his victory alone that Canadians should be proud of George Young and find delight in doing him honor. Rather our deeper national pride should rest upon the qualities of mind and heart and character which this youth displayed in approaching the hard trial to which he set himself, and the noble impulse which dictated his action.

A poor boy, with no relatives but a widowed, crippled mother to whom he was devotedly attached, George Young voluntarily sacrificed his amateur standing as a swimmer and staked his all on this one effort. He did so not because of a personal desire for fame or money, but in an all consuming desire to be able to take his crippled mother to California and provide her with the means whereby she might regain her health.

The boy's strength of character, his grim determination, and his willingness to sacrifice were clearly shown when, lacking the necessary railway fare from Toronto to California, he started to make the journey on a patched up motor cycle and doggedly pushed his way as far as Arizona. A boy of less character and perseverance would have "passed the hat" in order to reach the goal of his desire. Had George Young not achieved fame as he has done, it is safe to say that, in any event, he would have made a success of his life and in whatever sphere he might choose.

Premier Mackenzie King rightly expressed the sentiments of the people of Canada when, in extending congratulations on behalf of the Government and people of the Dominion, he said that this country shared with equal pride George Young's success and his beautiful tribute to his mother and all that disclosed the secret of his splendid achievement.

Such an achievement in the face of obstacles to be overcome that might well daunt the stoutest heart is an inspiration to the youth of Canada. Thousands of Canadian boys who can never hope to be great athletic champions and whose names will never be found on the lips of millions of their countrymen, but who in meeting the problems and difficulties of everyday life, and in shouldering the responsibilities that may be forced upon them, do so with the same force of character, the same determination, the same willingness to sacrifice self for the good of others, are equally heroic, and of them Canada will be equally proud.

George Young has builded better than he knew. His mother has borne testimony to the cleanness of his young life, and George has in spectacular fashion shown all Canadian boys that a clean life, free from bad habits and dissipation, pays. He has brought forcibly home to all the truth of the old adage that where there's a will there's a way. In bringing fame to Canada, he has likewise brought something of far greater and more lasting value, an object lesson which will mightily appeal to the imagination and love for the heroic in every normal Canadian boy.

This is a real national asset, because it is only through the cultivation and development of these same traits which made George Young a winner that the boyhood of Canada, or of any country, can realize full success in their endeavours no matter what direction they may take, or how humble they may be. It requires exactly the same qualities to make a real success in anything in life as were required to successfully swim Catalina channel.

"Don't take it so hard, I'm glad — even if she threw you over, remember what the song says: 'The hours I've spent with thee, dear heart!'"

"It ain't the hours I'm thinking of — it's the Jack."

Hardiness of Weed Seed

Seeds Lying Dormant for Forty Years Will Germinate

The seed of some of the troublesome varieties of weeds show a great tenacity of life. They will resurrect long after they are supposed to have been killed if not thoroughly and skillfully disposed of. The Michigan Agricultural College is engaged, as recorded in Bulletin No. 72 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture on Crop Rotation in an experiment to ascertain definitely how many years the common weed seeds will be dormant in the soil and then resume growth where suitable conditions come about. Weed seeds are mixed with sand and placed in uncorked pint bottles that are buried twenty inches below the surface and one taken up every five years. The experiment which can be continued for 100 years has already been conducted forty years. After being this length of time in the soil it has been found that black mustard, pepper grass, pig weed, ragweed, wild plumrose, common plantain, purslane and curled dock will still germinate. Some of these weeds removed in the earlier years failed to germinate but did so in later years. Ragweed failed to germinate in every trial until after it had been forty years in the soil. As the authors of the bulletin referred to (Messrs E. S. Hopkins and W. C. Hopper of the Field Husbandry Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms) suggest it is apparent that there can be no let up in the war against weeds, especially if the land has once become infected and that prevention of their getting a start is preeminently the most important method of weed control. Neglect for one year may result in a plague of weeds for a life-time and longer.

Berlin Police Deliver It to Owner in Running Condition

A seven-passenger limousine stolen two years ago, dismantled and sold piece meal by thieves to three different junk dealers, has been restored to the owner in running condition by the Berlin police. All it needs is a coat of paint.

More than a dozen policemen and detectives worked on the case off and on. Armed with the numbers of all parts of the stolen car, which is owned by a wealthy industrialist, the police garage mechanics were able to restore the car as it was when stolen.

Canada Attracting Attention

Has Greatest Export Trade of Any Self-Governing Country

Canada is becoming more widely known all the time. In an address before the Chamber of Commerce at Stratford, Ont., on the subject, "Canada, and Her International Relations," Dr. Walter A. Riddell, advisory agent for the Dominion to the League of Nations, declared that Canada's export trade has shown a greater increase than that of any other self-governing country in the world since 1913. He went on to point out that today, due to the rapid expansion in her foreign commerce, her exports have increased 397 per cent since 1913, and to the fact that she is selling products in 56 different countries and 29 dependents, Canada is no longer living to itself, but is taking a tremendous interest in world peace and the problems confronting other countries. As a result, he declared, Canada is attracting more attention than at any other period in her history.

Robbers Take Heavy Toll

A Billion and a Half Is Stolen Each Year in United States, According to Estimates

Merchandise, valued at $1,490,000,000 is taken out of legitimate channels in the United States each year by fraud, theft and robbery and sent back into the market through a system of "fence" to undersell honest dealers.

How the "fence," or receiver of stolen property operates to supply the liaison between swindlers, burglars and highwaymen is told in a voluminous report issued by the prison committee of the association of Grand Jurors of New York county.

In arriving at the huge total of losses the report gives the following tabulation: Merchandise frauds, $500,000,000; credit frauds, $265,000,000; robbery theft and holdups $100,000,000; burglary, $525,000,000.

The report also points out the weaknesses in existing laws which make the illicit dealer almost immune from prosecution.

Plans for Diamond Jubilee

Outstanding events in the history of Canada will be faithfully depicted in pageantry of the most colorful and gorgeous sort, according to plans which are being quietly worked out for the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the Dominion which will be observed July 1, and participated in by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, says The Ottawa Journal.

Vegetarians Are Not Immune From Cancer

Cases Occur Among People Who Abstain From Flesh Foods

Inquiries have been conducted among monastic communities in England by doctors connected with the health ministry and from the information thus obtained it has been conclusively proven, says Sir George Newman, chief medical officer to the ministry, that cases of cancer occur among people abstaining from flesh foods.

There is therefore no foundation for the contention that vegetarians are immune to cancer, he adds.

The investigations were made among the Carthusians, a French order; Benedictines, Italian; Carmelites, first founded in Syria, and Dominicans, Spanish, all of whom adhere to a strict diet system, most of them excluding meat.

British Subjects Should Use Canadian Ports

Delay When Landing at New York Would be Avoided

Canadians are reporting themselves, or are being reported, as the victims of delay and discomfort in the experience of landing from ocean liners in New York Harbor. Delay, discomfort and inconvenience may increase and multiply until Canadians learn to land at St. John and Halifax in winter time, as Canadians learn to sail from Montreal and Quebec in summer time. United States Jack-in-office operating at the Port of New York may yet teach British subjects that landing at the winter ports of their own country is easier to bear than the delays and discomforts prepared for British subjects at the Port of New York.

Fresh Supplies in Demand.—Wherever Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil has been introduced increased supplies have been ordered, showing that wherever it goes this excellent Oil impresses its power on the people. Far-Flung British Empire In Area and Extent Is Something At Which To Marvel

Commenting on the recent Imperial Conference and its accomplishments, a contributor to the World Wide magazine remarks that even without the self-governing Dominions and India, Great Britain and her dependencies would constitute quite a respectable Empire. That, of course, is true enough, but it would be an Empire of the older type, not a commonwealth of free, self-governing states bound together by community of sentiment and interest and acting together for the common good. In other words, a great experiment of incalculable value to the world, would be nullified were disruption to come. But apart from this side of the question, most people have only a vague idea of the vast extent of the territories that the Mother Country has undertaken to administer and to keep the peace within their confines. World Wide, indeed, has applied the process of stocktaking to the British Empire in its supposedly restricted form. In area the Dominions would far exceed the Mother Country and her dependencies, even though the Sudan alone, with its million of square miles, more than equals a quarter of Canada, one-third of Australia, and more than a moiety of India. As World Wide says, "It is in number and reach that these dependencies shine as a veritable galaxy. Islands rise in every ocean, every continent is at least touched, save that of North America, assuming that Newfoundland and her stretch of Labrador is eliminated."

In Europe there are Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, Gibraltar, Malta and Cyprus.

In Central and South America there are the British West Indies, Bermuda, Falkland Islands, British Guiana, British Honduras.

In Africa, in continental possessions and islands under direct control of the British government there are Swaziland, Basutoland, Bechuanaland, Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Uganda, Kenya, Zanzibar, Somaliland, Sudan, St. Helena, Ascension, Nigeria, Gold Coast, Sierra Leone, Gambia, Mauritius, Seychelles.

In Asia, other than India, there are Ceylon, Aden, Perlia, Socotra, Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, Unfederated Malay States, Brunei, British North Borneo, Sarawak, Hong Kong, Weihaiwei.

In Oceania, Papua, Fiji, Gilbert and Ellice Islands, Solomon Islands, and the Tonga Islands.

To complete the list outside the Dominions and India there are the territories under British mandate. They are the British Cameroons, Iraq, Palestine, Tanganyika and British Togoland.

What a vast structure the British Empire is, can be gathered from this stocktaking, and when the Dominions and India are considered, it is more imposing still. Says the Lethbridge Herald, Empire genius is required to hold this massive structure together with its vast responsibilities. The genius was proclaimed in what was effected at the Imperial Conference in its achievement in regard to Dominion status. The stocktaking shows us our Empire as it is, something at which to marvel.

An Underground Wonder

At the new Tube station now under construction beneath Piccadilly Circus, London, an area of 15,000 square feet will be devoted to the booking hall alone. This is necessitating the removal of about 10,000 tons of London clay. When completed the station will be able to handle 50,000,000 passengers annually.

Improvements In Fruits

Determining the Kind Most Suitable for Growth in Each Particular District

There are no more valuable experiments being carried on at the Dominion Experimental Farms and stations than those concerning fruit. Not alone are efforts directed to the improvement of varieties, but also to the ascertainment of the kind most suitable for growth in each particular district. Apples being the greatest staple of the country naturally receive special attention and some valuable varieties have been developed or bettered by cultivation. Special efforts are being made to obtain heavier and improved winter sorts, around no fewer than three hundred of the longer-keeping varieties now being under test. Pears are receiving similar attention and particularly with a view to securing better blight-resistant varieties.

Hardy cherries are being looked for and the hybrids between the native American species and the Japanese plum have produced useful sorts for Eastern Canada. A spineless gooseberry is proving promising and blueberries are being experimented with to encouragement of their wider growth.

Investigations in regard to runner formation and fertilizing of the strawberry have shown that the earlier the runners root the larger will be the crowns and that when nitrate soda is used as a fertilizer the best results are obtained when it is applied during the month of September.

An Economic Factor

Saskatchewan University Professor Believes in Co-operation

Professor W. W. Swanson, head of the Department of Economics of the University of Saskatchewan, speaking before the Moose Jaw Board of Trade recently said: "Among the economic factors shaping the development of Saskatchewan and of the West in general at the present time, the most outstanding, or at least the most significant in its accomplishments and promise, is the Wheat Pool. Farmers are only beginning to plumb the depths of co-operation, and when they have learned properly to utilize its tremendous power the economic and cultural standards of the Province will be substantially raised."

It is easier to stand prosperity than it is to get a chance to try.

Value of Good Dairy Cow

Record Should be Carefully Studied Before Making Purchase

How much can a farmer afford to pay for a good dairy cow, and what valuation should he place on his good producers? This question is asked in the latest bulletin of the Holstein-Friesian Association and an attempt made to answer it on the basis of figures obtained from the records of 40 Iowa Cow Testing associations for a full year completed last year.

A summary and average of the 7,654 cows of which complete year's records were kept showed that the profits after paying all feed costs, varied from $17 to $191. The cows which produced an average of only 100 lbs. butter-fat in a year required only $35.67 worth of feed, while those producing an average of 500 lbs. butter-fat had a feed bill of $93.71. In spite of the higher feed cost, the 500-lb producers made a profit over feed cost of $91.73, while the 100-lb producers returned only $17.22 after paying the feed bill. The records of cows between the 100-lb and 500-lb producers showed that the profits increased as production increased, even though the feed bill grew steadily larger. Those of 300-lb butter-fat showed $28 profit; those producing only 200 lbs. showed only $55 profit.

From these records it may be concluded that, in some instances, $200 may not be enough for a good grade dairy cow, and that even $50 might be too much for another. The good cow may return twice as much for every dollar of feed she eats as will the poor cow. When the whole life-time production of a cow is considered, one good cow, well fed, may be worth a whole herd of inferior producers. The lessons from such records should be carefully studied by every dairy farmer who wishes to make a success of his business.

Nearest to Europe

Newfoundland, the oldest British colony, is the part of North America nearest to Europe. Cape Race, the southeastern point of Newfoundland, is less than 1,700 miles from Cape Clear, Ireland. At the north west, Newfoundland is separated from the mainland or Labrador by the Strait of Belle Isle, which is only 12 miles wide. Newfoundland has an area of 42,734 square miles.

Reformer—"Young man, do you know of the pitfalls of the wicked city?"

Harold—"Yes sir, I fell down a man-hole once."

Justifiable publicity was given to the fact that at the American Vegetable Growers' Annual Show held recently at Cleveland, Ohio, in which eleven states competed, the cauliflower championship of the North American continent was won by a market gardener from Manitoba, Klass de Jong, who came to the province from Holland some twenty years ago. At the same meeting, in the same keen competition, the North American celery championship was awarded James Little, of St. Catharines, Ontario. Two such outstanding awards are sufficiently indicative of the Dominion's ability to produce superior vegetables.

Certain sections of Canada have achieved an international renown for their vegetable products. The Maritime Provinces' potato, for instance, is in wide demand all over the American continent and travels in some volume to Cuba, Bermuda, British Guiana, Barbadoes, Jamaica, British West Indies and other countries. On the other side of the Dominion the Pacific coast province of British Columbia is creating the same reputation and seems destined to develop as wide a market. Recently an order for one hundred carloads of potatoes was received by the Provincial Growers' Association. The same province is becoming well known as a producer of onions, with about 1,555 acres devoted to this crop, of which 1,000 acres are in the Okanagan Valley. Practically every vessel leaving for the Antipodes carries British Columbia onions to Australia and New Zealand.

The Canadian potato crop of 1926 is estimated to be 43,130,000 cwt., as compared with 12,379,900 cwt. in 1925, contributed as follows:—Prince Edward Island, 3,495,000 cwt.; Nova Scotia, 2,833,000; New Brunswick, 4,221,000; Quebec, 13,769,000; Ontario, 8,916,000; Manitoba, 2,248,000; Saskatchewan, 3,915,000; Alberta, 2,764,000; and British Columbia, 1,859,000 cwt. The onion crop of Ontario, it is estimated, will amount to 740 cars, and that of British Columbia, 820 cars, 110 cars of the latter being available for export.

Largest Yielding Hay Crop

Canadian Grown Alfalfa Seed Better Than the Imported Article

Alfalfa is the largest yielding hay crop grown on the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa and, points out the Minister of Agriculture in his latest report, is easily grown on soils suited to it. Demonstrations have proven the important fact that Canadian-grown alfalfa seed gives very much better results than those obtained from imported seed.

Still dealing with the work of the Field Husbandry division at the farm, the Minister says that comparing sunflowers with corn for silage it has been found that on sandy soil corn gives a yield of actual dry matter slightly larger than sunflowers and that because it is easier to handle and makes slightly superior silage, corn is to be preferred wherever it will grow satisfactorily. However, on heavy clay sunflowers have given materially larger dry matter yields than corn and for that reason possess some advantages on such soil.

Prescription for Success

Dr. William Osler's prescription for success in doing the daily job will appeal to many harassed souls: "Banish the future, live only for the hour and its allotted work. Think not of the amount to be accomplished, the difficulties to be overcome, or the end to be attained, but set earnestly at the little task at your elbow, letting that be sufficient for the day."

No Fear of Influenza Outbreak

Could Spread Check to Canada Says Toronto Health Officer

The serious outbreak of influenza now claiming many lives in central and northern Europe is not expected to invade Canada, according to Dr. Charles J. O. Hastings, medical officer of health for Toronto. The doctor reassured citizens that even should the European outbreak assume serious proportions its spread to this country could be checked. Because of the heavy tourist and invulnerable traffic to the United States which continued undiminished during winter months the doctor feared influenza might invade that country from Europe.

Inland Fisheries Thriving

Western Provinces are Extending Shipments to Distant Markets

The inland fisheries of the Canadian West, and particularly those of Alberta, are apparently thriving and extending their shipments to distant markets on the continent. The summer fish catch on Lesser Slave Lake amounted to more than 650,000 pounds of whitefish, 168,711 pounds of pickerel, 310,162 pounds of pike and smaller quantities of other fish. In one week 30,000 pounds of fresh pickerel were taken from Pinhurst Lake, near Lac la Biche, and with quantities of fresh water herring shipped to the United States market. A carload of trout weighing 22,000 pounds from Lesser Slave Lake left Edmonton a short time ago for Minneapolis, to be followed by three other cars, and from the same lake and Lac la Biche, 120 tons of whitefish went to New York. The first plant in Canada, outside of British Columbia, for the freezing of fish, poultry, and eggs under the Otis process is to be installed in Edmonton with an initial capacity of fifteen tons per day.

German Cruiser Draws Crowd

Rush to View "Emden" at Capetown Nearly Caused Disaster

An eager rush to board the German cruiser Emden nearly brought disaster at Capetown. The officers of the cruiser, which was launched at Wilhelmshaven, Germany, in January, 1925, and christened after the famous war-time German raider had invited the public aboard, but the vessel could not accommodate the unexpected thousands who thronged the quay. It seemed for a time as though many persons would be pushed overboard by the pressure of the crowd which was relieved only when a hose was brought into play. There was a momentary panic in which many persons fainted.

The incident marred the good feelings which had been displayed since the Emden came into port for a visit.

FATEFUL YEARS

FOR ALL WOMEN

Much Suffering Can be Avoided Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many women enter this term under depressing conditions; through overwork, worry, or a watery condition of the blood, and they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms are headaches, palpitations, dizziness, backaches, depression and other well recognized disturbances of the health which show that the blood requires attention. Women stand in need of rich red blood all their lives, but never more so than at middle age, when the nerves are also weak and overwrought. In this condition there is no other medicine can do so much for women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which gives tone to the whole body, thus restoring robust health. Thousands of Canadian women have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Among them is Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Lion's Head, Ont., who says: "I am writing to let you know the wonderful good your pills have done me. I was a complete wreck, and would faint if I crossed the room. I was going through the change of life, and was so weak I could not do my work. I went to Toronto, when my folks said nothing but an operation would help me. But I said: 'No, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me in girlhood, and I am going to give them a trial.' I took the pills steadily for a month, when I returned home a well woman, able to do all my work with ease. Friends here say it's a wonder I am alive after what I went through, and I am thankful to say I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Portrait of Lenine

Appears on Stamps

Proceeds of Restricted Issue to be Used for Charity

For the first time since his death the visage of Nicolai Lenine has appeared on an issue of stamps. It represents him as a child of nine, long before Communism was dreamed of in Russia and appears on a restricted issue of twenty kopek stamps, the proceeds to be devoted to relief of the nation's 500,000 vagrant children. Heretofore the authorities have forbidden use of Lenine's likeness on stamps, cigarette boxes or advertising matter. The rule was relaxed in this instance to help the children.

A Good Policy

When a high-salaried executive left the employ of the Marshall Field store, some one asked Mr. Shedd, the president of the firm, what he was going to do. "Hire another office boy," he said. Promoting all along the line and filling in the vacancy at the bottom was his policy, and he found that it helped to keep his business prosperous and the morals of his staff high.—Youth's Companion.

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 30

THE CHRISTIAN OVERCOMING TEMPTATION

Golden Text: In that He Himself that suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted. —Hebrews 2:18.

Lesson: Luke 4:1-13; I Corinthians 10:12, 13.

Devotional Reading: Romans 8:31-29.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Scene and the Nature of the Temptation, Luke 4:1, 2.—Yielding to the control of the Holy Spirit, who had come to Him in a special way at His baptism, Jesus went from the Jordan into the wilderness, there to meditate undisturbed upon the work God had given Him to do. During forty days spent there, a period referred to here perhaps as a "round number," representing many days, he was "tempted of the devil." As the story is told in Mark, Jesus seems to have waged his great struggle throughout His wilderness sojourn, but as told in Matthew and Luke the specific temptations seem to have come at the end of the period.

Jesus himself must have related this temptation, for in no other way could it have become known. We have the account as Jesus gave it of a conflict which took place in His mind, an inner and spiritual struggle, which he pictured by a series of fitting images which His followers would understand. We cannot believe that had Jesus listened to the words of the devil in the evil one (as the literal interpretation of the story puts it), they would have held any temptation for Him. The devil is represented as standing in person beside Him, pointing to the stones round about them, transporting Him to the top of a hill, and to the pinnacle of the temple. "There must be something so attractive about a temptation, so deceptive, so persuasive, that even a good man shall feel inclined to accept the invitation. The choice which we all make, sinners though we are, is not between the known good and the known bad; it is between two courses of action, each of which appears to be good. It is very rarely that we sin, saying boldly to ourselves, 'This is plainly in defiance of the will of God, but I will do it.' No, we somehow persuade ourselves that darkness is light, and evil is good. We do the bidding of the devil, but in order to get us to do it he has to disguise himself so that we may not recognize him. If the devil came, the plain devil, and said, 'Do this,' we would not do it. It is not in that manner that we are tempted. Still less was Christ thus tempted. The sight of the tempter, the consequent knowledge that the suggestion of his pointing finger was the suggestion of evil, would have made any true temptation totally impossible." —George H. Hodges.

A League of English Speaking Nations

One Factor That Can Ensure the Peace of the World

Speakers at the annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York held recently, emphasized the importance of friendship and understanding between the United States and the nations of the British Empire to assure the peace of the world.

Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, of the Ontario Court of Appeals, said that while he was president of the League of Nations Society of Toronto at the time the United States decided not to join the League, he was not particularly concerned because he realized there was a far more important league—the league of English-speaking peoples.

"As long as this league exists and the English-speaking countries act in harmony the peace of the world and civilization is secure," Mr. Justice Riddell said. "Let them part, and woe unutterable will follow."

transfix them. Yet she was merely silent, only very still; the quizzical smile the croupier had seen played again about the curve of her lips. The brown of her eyes were browner, more golden than usual. What the women saw was the wilful splendour, always startling young American whose whims and flirtations had aroused the Riviera, yielding, melting, swaying to a young man who had neither the grace nor place of any one of that bright company of worshippers which habitually fluttered about her. The man spoke, at last.

"It's good to see you again, Jo!" he said. The brown in the girl's eyes went a shade darker. It was an almost imperceptible change. It could be though, a forerunner of shadows that could make those eyes almost black at times. She withdrew her hands gently. It was as if she had been holding something that she had suddenly discovered, wasn't there at all.

"I'm glad you found time to come down," she said quietly.

"I intended to surprise you," he explained. "I was going to drop in and have you open a door and come into a room, or something like that, not expecting me, and then, I'd planned to say, 'Hello! You've got your good looks on, haven't you Jo?' or something like the old days. Didn't think they'd announce me and spoil it."

The haunting shadow remained beneath her lids. She made no reply, but turned to bring up Prince Michael for the introductions. Yvonne, who stood with Kenilworth, saw that John's glance repeatedly swept the room, the litter at the roulette table reminiscent of the recent scene, to return and rest on Joanna. And she saw, too, that Joanna, watching John fur-tively, was conscious of his inspections of the gambling rooms, the gambling company and of her.

On the terrace, free from the ceaseless confusion in the gambling rooms, the party stood for a few moments, by a common consent, against the white balustrade. Michael and Kenilworth plunged into their polite appreciations of the world wide attention the young architect had drawn to his plan for a unique and stupendous monument to men who went to war. Michael referred to "the late war." John launched instantly upon a correction of that understanding.

"Not alone the men who went to fight in the late war," he said, "but in all wars—those ahead of us as well as those behind us. They all were stirred by the same exhilaration, you know, and always will be. Your ancient crusader fought for a religion but it was a woman, or girl, or one who was still a girl in his fancies, who gave him the courage to go, and sent with him the memories that cheered him. My structure is to commemorate the women who have made every soldier think he is not only a unit in a regiment but a knight with his lady's handkerchief waving from his helmet."

The two women, who had drawn together while the men questioned John, became restive after awhile. Joanna declared, "But we are not to stand here talking about soldiers and wars and things made out of stone. Mr. Wilmore will dine at Annette's, I know. You, too, Roddy, if you will. I know Prince Michael has some glamorous engagement of his own for tonight."

Prince Michael bowed elaborately, and acknowledged that he was dining tete a tete. "Although it should be with some one else," he added, favoring Joanna with a meaning glance that was a reminder of the dash to the frontier the night before. Kenilworth would have accepted promptly the welcome to Annette but Yvonne interfered.

"You can take me to the Metropolitan for dinner," she said to Roddy. "You will not have to change if the balcony will satisfy you, and it will me. I shall run out to Annette later to dress."

Joanna thanked her with her eyes. Kenilworth was inclined to be stubborn, but Yvonne managed the situation. Presently Joanna and John were speeding along the sea road, in her luxurious foreign car, toward Villa Annette. The lights of the early evening were twinkling in the bay, and the perfumes of orange and lemon and geranium were wafting in the mel-low Riviera night.

Between the two people in the car there was some subtle barrier. It had come with the shadow back in the salle de roulette. John was stiff; Joanna thoughtful. "You haven't congratulated me," he said, at last. She regarded him gravely from the corner of the wide cushioned seat.

"The wonder of it is overwhelming," she said. "My throat was crammed with the things I was going to say to you when we were alone. They've gone out of it. It has made me very happy, though, when I have read splendid things people say of you. You are going to be a success, after all, aren't you? All your dreams are coming true."

He waited a while before he answered. "Not all of them, Jo. And there's been a nightmare among them, you know. It's never gone away."

Ottawa Woman Used all Sorts of Foods for Material

Miss Helen Campbell, of the Dominion Government's Dairy Department, Ottawa, has been playing architect and builder. Her materials have been all sorts of good foods and she has made of them a little house that children think is the most wonderful thing in the world and before which the grown-ups stand fascinated. It is of "stucco"—rolled oats—sprinkled smoothly over a glue-sugared foundation; the opened shutters are of brown bread, and the window sills of dates. The house is shingled with Graham wafers, and the chimneys that rise at each end are bottles of good milk. The path to the hall door is of unpolished rice, bordered with nuts of various kinds; the pillars that uphold the porch are of macaroni, and the steps are of cheese. The curtains are made of lettuce leaves.

"I didn't think the newspapers would announce me," John said, shyly. "I wanted to surprise her. I had not told her when I was coming."

They moved in among the spectators slowly, Yvonne remaining close to his side. Brandon edged in between Kenilworth and Michael and, almost without a word, communicated to both of them that "he" was behind them. Kenilworth did not turn around. Prince Michael swung around quickly and gave the man who stood with Yvonne a deliberate scrutiny. Apparently he was satisfied with his observation, for he coolly turned his back and continued his fictitious play with Joanna's money.

Twice Joanna played "en plein" or the sweep of the colors and columns. She had won that sensation play three times. Now she lost each time, emptying her bag of its hoarded gold and notes. Any experienced player would have switched, as she knew, to the simple colors, with the next plays, until "luck" changed. But a sudden sublimeness overwhelmed her. "En plein!" she called again, and swept her 15,000 francs—$5,000—onto the table. Again she lost. Whispering in the crowd behind her ceased. Necks craned to see her next play. "En plein!" she called, and tossed another $5,000 onto the green cloth.

The crowd of watchers at the table gasped. Deathly silence fell. Even Yvonne, who had been chatting feverishly with John, was silent. Kenilworth started to murmur a caution but Joanna threw up her hand jerkily and wilfully. If ever "en plein" wins immediately after losing it becomes one of the legends of Monte Carlo. It turns up one out of 100 plays, according to the average struck after many years. Again the croupier raked in the stake and called for the next play. "Faites vos jeux, Mademoiselle!" Make your game, Mademoiselle.

Her bag was empty. She signed over her shoulder to Michael for her money from his pockets. Again $5,000, and again! The watchful chef de partie went away. At last with a shrug of her shoulders the Golden Girl leaned back in her chair. She smiled to the croupier.

"Merci, Monsieur," she said, "that is all. I have no more."

The croupier, as there was no one else playing, permitted himself the rare pleasure of an exchange with Mademoiselle Joanna.

"I am desolate that Mademoiselle should have been so unlucky!"

She shook her head, still leaning back in her chair, and smiling at him queerly.

"Merci, Monsieur," she said, "but I am not unhappy. Unlucky at play, you know, lucky in love. I want to be very lucky today, Monsieur—at love!"

She got up, then, and looked up at Kenilworth and Michael, who were standing transfixed by the suddenness of the piling up of her tremendous losses. She put a hand on the sleeves of both of them and shared between them that persistent, quizzical smile. She was about to chaff them when her eyes found Yvonne and the man beside her. Both Kenilworth and Prince Michael felt, and took a different lesson, from the sudden gripping of the fingers that had rested so fairy like upon their arms.

CHAPTER XXVI John's Success

John, changed much, despite his dislike of being expected to be different, put Joanna's hands together and wrapped his own about them.

Quite a few of the men who had been spectators to the Golden Girl's reckless plays, and had marvelled anew at the abandon with which she tossed fortunes into the discard when she pitted a stubborn will against the implacable rules of chance, gave John a deeply speculative glance. Among the crowd about the roulette table there had been many women, smart women from Rome, and Madrid, and Paris, with a sprinkling of Americans who were distinguished by their shy wonder at the boldness with which the others flaunted their banner of sex. Some of these watched the girl who greeted the stranger so intently that their own stares seemed to London, Ont.—"During one of my expectant periods I was so weak and nervous I could not get around, my head ached, I felt heavy all the time and suffered with sick stomach. I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and after I began taking it I got along fine. It relieved me of all the bad effects, made me well and strong, my nerves were good, and I kept so well I could do all my own work and I had a fine healthy baby."
